Part II Course Details

1. Abstract

(A 150-word description about the course)

The shift from Web 1.0 to Web 2.0 has provided new tools of self-expression which are significantly different from traditional forms of self-presentation and autobiographical writing. Explicit, linguistic forms of self-expression are increasingly replaced by automated recordings of personal data. The resulting post-human autobiography is an assemblage of deliberate utterances and automated records. Thus identity is constructed as a datafied mirror of a person's actions rather than as a result of self-reflection. The course discusses this issue by exploring traditional and contemporary theory and practice of narration in identity construction and aims at providing students with a critical understanding of how new media operate and the ability to express themselves and generate an online-identity in the most effective and meaningful way. Subjects discussed in the course's sessions are: self-narration on Facebook, identity and the postmodern subject, the role of narration in identity construction, episodic and narrative concept of identity, photography as indexical concept of memory, numerical narratives via database, the Internet as archive, perfect memory and the right to forget, self tracking and the quantified self.

2. Course Intended Learning Outcomes (CILOs)

(CILOs state what the student is expected to be able to do at the end of the course according to a given standard of performance.)

No.	CILOs [#]	Weighting* (if applicable)	Discovery-enriched curriculum related learning outcomes (please tick where appropriate)
			A1	A2	A3
1.	To identify and discuss the ways new technologies have affected how we understand and describe ourselves.		x	x	x
2.	To analyze and critically evaluate communication, self-narration, and concepts of identity on social networks.		x	x	x
3.	To identify and discuss the impact of different sources (update, like, share, comment, upload, automated reports) and forms of data (linguistic, visual, numerical) on self-narration and self-understanding.		x	x	x
4.	To apply knowledge about the significance and impact of those different media and data to effectively communicate and manage information online.		x	x	x
5.	To utilize the findings in the process of self-expression and the generation of identity in social network sites.			x	x
		100%

* If weighting is assigned to CILOs, they should add up to 100%.

[#] Please specify the alignment of CILOs to the Gateway Education Programme Intended Learning outcomes (PILOs) in Section A of Annex.

A1: Attitude

Develop an attitude of discovery/innovation/creativity, as demonstrated by students possessing a strong sense of curiosity, asking questions actively, challenging assumptions or engaging in inquiry together with teachers.

A2: Ability

Develop the ability/skill needed to discover/innovate/create, as demonstrated by students possessing critical thinking skills to assess ideas, acquiring research skills, synthesizing knowledge across disciplines or applying academic knowledge to self-life problems.

A3: Accomplishments

Demonstrate accomplishment of discovery/innovation/creativity through producing /constructing creative works/new artefacts, effective solutions to real-life problems or new processes.

3. Teaching and Learning Activities (TLAs)

(TLAs designed to facilitate students' achievement of the CILOs.)

TLA	Brief Description	CILO No.						Hours/week (if applicable)
		1	2	3	4	5
Lecture	Explain key concepts, such as theories related to narration and identity	√	√	√				2 hrs/wk
Analysis report	Requires students to individually diagnose the meaning of different forms of (self)narration in social media.		√	√				1 hr/wk
Group Project	Analyses the function of an app or online platform facilitating self tracking and self narration.		√	√	√	√		3 hrs/wk for 3 weeks
Individual Essay	Discusses the findings of the group project with respect to additional academic readings.		√	√	√	√

4. Assessment Tasks/Activities (ATs)

(ATs are designed to assess how well the students achieve the CILOs.)

Assessment Tasks/Activities	CILO No.						Weighting*	Remarks
	1	2	3	4
Continuous Assessment: 100%
Class participation	x	x					20%	This assessment activity reviews students' participation and performance in discussions, debates and peer critique during class and in the discussion forum on Canvas.
Quizzes (two)	x	x	x				20%	Quizzes will test students' understanding of theoretical concepts from lectures and readings.
Individual Essay (1,750 words)			x	x			30%	Students should demonstrate ability to apply knowledge to undertake an independent research and build up argument.
Group Project and Presentation			x	x			30%	Students work together to investigate an area of inquiry in the field of self-narration on social networks and demonstrate analytical skills and the ability to apply their knowledge in their own project of self-narration on Facebook or other social networks (Twitter, LinkedIn, Snapchat, Instagram etc.)
Examination: 0% (duration: _____, if applicable)

* The weightings should add up to 100%.

100%

5. Assessment Rubrics

(Grading of student achievements is based on student performance in assessment tasks/activities with the following rubrics.)

Assessment Task	Criterion	Excellent (A+, A, A-)	Good (B+, B, B-)	Adequate (C+, C, C-)	Marginal (D)	Failure (F)
1. Class Participation	Evidence of discovery, coherent argumentation and interpersonal sensitivity	High	Significant	Moderate	Basic	Not even reaching marginal levels
2. Quiz	Proof of knowledge and understanding regarding the questions asked.	90-100 % of possible points	80-89 % of possible points	70-79 % of possible points	60-69 % of possible points	Below 60% of possible points
3. Individual Essay	Capacity for self-directed learning to understand the principles of narrative activity and medial representation in the apps and platforms explored	High	Significant	Moderate	Basic	Not even reaching marginal levels
4. Group Project and Presentation	Ability to explain in detail and with accuracy the relationship of the apps and platforms investigated to the subject of narration and identity.	High	Significant	Moderate	Basic	Not even reaching marginal levels
